WASHINGTON'S BIRTHDAY.

PARADE BY P. O. S. OF A. AND PRESENTATION OF FLAG TO NORMAL SCHOOL.

Thursday, February 22nd, 1894, the birthday of the great and only Washington, dawned clear and bright. The sound of brass bands was heard early on the streets as the delegations of P. O. S. of A Camps arrived on the trains. At 9:45 the parade was formed on Market Square under the direction of Thos. E. Geddes, Chief Marshal, and his assistants mounted. The line was headed by the Franklin Band in handsome uniforms, followed by the camps of Stoneytown, Catawissa and Bloomsburg, and the Catawissa Band. The large and handsome flag to be presented to the Normal School was carried at the end of the line. The parade marched directly to the Normal, and the flag was hoisted on the buildings, and the students sang a patriotic song, after which all entered the auditorium where an eloquent presentation address was made by Rev. U. Myers of Catawissa, which was responded to by Prof. Coughlin of Wilkesbarre, and this was followed by other appropriate dedicatory exercises. After these were over the societies and bands, augmented by the Benton band and camp marched down Main street to East, and down East to Fifth, and thence through other streets, making an imposing appearance. A convention was held in the Opera House after the parade by all the camps present, and in the evening a public meeting was held, which was addressed by Rev. Rupley of Catawissa, and others. Music was provided by C. P. Elwell's orchestra and the Y. M. C. A. choir.

At the Normal School after the flag presentation there were gymnastic sports in the new gymnasium, and a banquet at 2 p. m. A full report will be given next week.

Enemies for Life.

Of the next attraction in Garman's opera house the Louisville Post says: "Enemies for Life," a realistic melodramatic sensation in four acts is the bill offered the patrons of the Bijou Theater this week for entertainment. The play was presented to a good audience yesterday, and again last evening to an audience of considerable proportions and keen appreciation of the stirring action of the play by applause furious and frequent.

The play tells the story of Naomi Wellington, her trials and tribulations, of her triumph over the machinations of her arch enemy, and their final reconciliation. The play gives opportunity for the introduction of many mechanical and scenic effects. These are presented with a skill which set the audience wild with delight last evening. The prison scene in the second act was well put on.

The play has its climax in the third act. The scene is a gypsy camp by a water-fall, which is finely realistic. The tents, the wagons, the scenery of the canyon, are all excellent. A storm which breaks upon the little camp is truly terrific, and a tree is burst asunder by a thunder-bolt with startling truth. The audience last evening gave evidence of their appreciation by thunderous applause.

Miss Joan Cravan as Naomi, a part calling for strong emotional powers, was thoroughly convincing in her portrayal of character, and was given the heartiest applause. Miss Marie Baldwin's portraiture of Hester Cameron was equally acceptable. James A. Ryan was successful with the comedy part of a tramp, and W. H. Harvey as a gypsy earned much praise as a character actor. The cast was good, throughout.

An Important Case.

Joseph M. Lilly and others, residents of Berwick, have made application to the Attorney General for a writ of quo warranto to forfeit all charter rights of the Jackson & Woodin Manufacturing Co., of Berwick, by reason of said Company indirectly maintaining a company or supply store, where its employees are made to deal. The application is represented by James Scarlet and W. H. Rhawn, Esqs., and the Company by Senator Herring, John G. Johnson, Esq., Philadelphia, and Fred Ikeler, Esq., and was argued before the Attorney General by Messrs. Scarlet & Herring on Saturday last. That official has reserved his decision.—Item.

The School Furnishing Company's works began operations Monday, after an idleness of four months. They will soon give employment to their full force of workmen.

RESCUERS HARD AT WORK.

THE TASK OF REACHING THE ENTOMBED MINERS ONE OF GREAT DIFFICULTY.

There has been no cessation of effort on the part of the rescuers who are digging for the entombed men at Plymouth. Many miners were at the scene of the disaster and the general opinion among the most experienced was that the thirteen victims would never be rescued alive.

A wild hope was born in the breasts of the victims' friends when word came that a supply of blankets had been ordered to the shaft, but the order was given merely as a precautionary in case the rescuers should come on the men unexpectedly. All day the rescuerers are kept ceaselessly at work, gang succeeding gang at regular intervals. The task is not only hard and dangerous, but discouraging. No sooner do the men gain twenty feet or so than the top settles down. The rescuing party have already had many close calls and the prediction is freely made by old miners that more lives will be sacrificed before the victims are reached.

Although the air is filled with rumors of every description, the simple fact is that no one knows when the men will be reached. Were the rescuerers driving through solid coal or the rock, the exact hour when they would reach a given point could easily be ascertained. But with a mass of loose coal in front of them and a roof which threatens at any moment to crash down upon and bury them, the men find it hard to foretell the result with any degree of confidence.

Bowmanites Again Victorious.

Judge Mayer, of Lock Haven, has filed his opinion in the Bethlehem Evangelical Church case, Rev. J. C. Bleim, et al., vs. Rev. H. D. Schultz et al., sustaining the report of R. C. Stewart, master. This report was in favor of the plaintiffs, the Bowmanites. The action was brought to determine whether the Bowman Esher faction or the Dubsites were entitled to the possession of the church and parsonage. F. W. Edgar, of counsel for the Dubsites, has filed a motion for a rehearing.

ANOTHER SUDDEN DEATH.

On Thursday evening of last week as Mrs. Louis Cohen was on her way home, and was going down West street from Main, she was attacked with a paroxysm of pain as she was passing Thomas Gorrey's residence, and entering the house she found Mr. Gorrey and called for him to help her. He summoned his wife and daughter, who loosed Mrs. Cohen's dress and placed hot irons to her feet, while Mr. Gorrey sent for a physician and notified Mrs. Cohen's family. In a few moments she became unconscious and was dead before the doctor arrived. It is supposed that death was caused by a rush of blood to the head. Mrs. Cohen had been up street on some errands, and about nine o'clock she stopped in the store of Alexander Bros. & Co. and talked with her husband, and then came down to C. B. Chrisman's and purchased some fish, leaving there to go home, apparently in excellent health. Her sudden death was a great shock to the community, and a crushing blow to her husband and six children. She was an excellent wife and a devoted mother, and great sympathy is felt for the family in their bereavement. Mrs. Cohen was a sister of Oscar and Less Alexander, and her age was fifty-one years.

The funeral services were held at the residence, corner of Third and West streets, on Monday morning at nine o'clock and were conducted by Rev. Mr. Josephs of Wilkesbarre, and Rev. Mr. Myers of Danville, Jewish Rabbis. The pall bearers were Louis Lowenberg, Louis Gross, J. M. Gidding, J. R. Townsend, of Bloomsburg, and Louis Bloch and J. Heim, of Danville. There were many beautiful floral offerings. The remains were taken on the 10:49 train to New York, where the burial took place on Tuesday.

Sale of real estate of John Donahue, deceased, ordered.

Robert S. Howell, of Espy, presented a bill in equity, to restrain the Commissioners from sending out the election tickets of Scott township in the form they are printed. He claimed that there were more names on the ticket than should be; that two caucuses were held, one for each, East and West Scott, instead of a joint caucus. The Court held that under the circumstances, and at this late day, no change should be made; that the Commissioners did the best they could and the tickets as printed should stand.

Adjournment.

The meeting before W. H. Snyder, Esq., in the matter of the adjustment of the school claims between Catawissa borough and Catawissa township, has been adjourned until March 15, 1894, at 10 o'clock a. m., at the law office of W. H. Rhawn, Esq.

FOX CHASE.

The sportsmen of the town gave a fox chase Tuesday. They let a grey fox loose near the country residence of Hon. C. R. Buckalew, above town. After the fox had a start of ten minutes the dogs were let loose and immediately took the trail. The fox started in a northernly direction toward the creek, and then circling about, crossed the road up near the farm of Mr. Melick, and made for the river hill. The dogs followed closely and captured him at the river, near Espy. The three dogs, belonging to County Treasurer Fowler, Postmaster J. H. Mercer, and Wm. F. Bodine, had the fox killed when the hunters came upon them.

A New Firm.

F. P. Pursel and Samuel H. Harman have purchased the entire stock of goods in the McKelvy store, from A. Z. Schoch, assignee, with the approval of the Court, and the store will be opened next Monday, by the new firm of Pursel & Harman. A rearrangement of the goods on the grocery side has greatly improved the appearance of the store. Both of these young men have had experience in the business, Mr. Pursel having been the buyer for I. W. McKelvy on the dry goods side for many years, and Mr. Harman held a position as clerk there for some time. They propose to maintain the high reputation of the store, and the liberal patronage heretofore enjoyed should be accorded the new firm.

ORANGEVILLE, Pa., Feb. 18, '94.

Resolutions of sympathy relative to the death of Zella Appelman.

WHEREAS, death has entered our Sabbath School and taken from our number another of its members. Therefore

Resolved, that in the death of this child the infant class loses one of its brightest buds of promise. Though our hearts are sad we acknowledge the hand of a kind father who has early transplanted this little one into the home and keeping of Him who said, suffer the little children to come unto me and forbid them not, for of such is the kingdom of heaven.

Resolved, that we as Sunday School workers labor more earnestly, in leading those under our care, to the Great Shepherd of Souls.

Resolved, that to the sorrowing parents, brother and sister, we tender our warmest sympathy. While your home has been made desolate, your hearts bereaved, of a choice treasure Zella's freed spirit awaits in Gods own home the coming of father, mother, brother and sister. Not lost, but only gone a little while before.

Resolved, that a copy of these resolutions be sent to the parents.

ZELLA'S SUNDAY SCHOOL TEACHER AND CLASS. } Com.

Mr. A. P. Young of Millville attended the Farmers' Institute at Tunkhannock last week, and made an address, of which the Scranton Republican says:

"Mr. A. P. Young of Millville was then introduced and presented a well prepared paper, choosing for his subject: "Brother Farmers, what do the Signs indicate?" Mr. Young said: "Actions sometimes speak louder than words, The farmers' surroundings portray either his prosperity or his failures, as the case may be. It is wise for a person to consider well in making a choice of his vocation. But when that choice is once decided let it be final and conclusive, and every effort put forth for a successful termination. Adventures are risky and dangerous, and the casual observer notes the conditions and the surroundings.

A careless condition of the buildings, fences, utensils, and crops on the premises indicate unprofitable farming. While the fowls are unprotected and forced to roost in the fruit trees in the inclemency of the weather, it is sure and unmistakable that the egg supply will be small. Luxuriant growth of noxious weeds about the premises is not only detrimental to the farmer himself, but to all his neighbors. "Farmers institute are doing their part, but back of all that is a work to do that demands personal attention, and a change for the better in these surroundings will be when the business is transferred to more skillful hands.

The Congressman-at-Large suffered on Tuesday, because of the peculiar form of the ballot. There was so much independent voting that the head of the ticket was forgotten. The vote for Congressman-at-Large was very much smaller than the rest of the ticket.

A SILVER WEDDING.

A very pleasant gathering of the friends of Mr. F. H. and Mrs. Dora C. Hagenbuch was enjoyed at their residence in Centre, on the 17th inst. The occasion was the celebration of the twenty-fifth anniversary of their happy married life. Guests from far and near were drawn to the old homestead, where Mr. and Mrs. Hagenbuch are wont to dispense their hospitality, in order that they might show their appreciation of the kindness of friends, and to express their sincere wishes of abundant happiness for their future.

After enjoying a very pleasant time in conversation, the invitation to dinner was given, and the guests gathered around a table laden with most delicate and delicious fare. I would not undertake to describe the kinds and variety of food with which the table was loaded. It is sufficient to say that all that the most delicate taste or the most healthy appetite could crave was furnished.

The Bride and Groom were most ably assisted by nephews, nieces, cousins and friends in their successful efforts to make their friends happy—and they succeeded in doing all that the most critical taste could desire.

The friends who came to enjoy this silver anniversary were mindful to bring with them some memento of their affection, and many and valuable were the gifts for which the sincere thanks of the happy couple were returned.

I might occupy much of your valuable space in writing of this occasion but do not wish to do so. I might, however, say that Berwick, Danville, Nanticoke, Lightstreet, Espy, Bloomsburg and Milton furnished participants for the occasion, while also, many of the nearer neighbors of the Bride and Groom, were present to share in the enjoyments of the day.

After several hours spent in a most pleasant way, the guests in couples and quadruples, or still larger numbers said "good bye," and with kindest wishes for the future, to the ringing of the "merry, merry sleighbells," took their departure for home. The number of those present was over one hundred.

The business will be conducted by Mr. J. M. Gidding, who bought the whole stock and good will for full value, one hundred cents on the dollar. Again thanking the public, I am sincerely, MARK SALSBURG, Administrator.

Canton, Pa.

The Ladies of the Presbyterian church will give a chicken and hot cake supper, beginning at 5 o'clock on Friday evening, February 23rd, at the house of Mrs. E Rupert corner of Centre and Third streets. Supper 25 cts. Ice Cream and Cake extra.

Wm. F. Bodine's hound received a severe wound in the fox chase Tuesday. It is supposed he was caught by a barbed wire fence, as the flesh was torn about eight inches across the tendons of the hind leg. The wound did not retard the dog in his pursuit of the fox, as he was one of the three that caught the fox.

This is the first time that an independent candidate for member of Town Council has failed to be elected. The very large vote polled, was probable the cause of it. Both political parties seemed to stick closely to their ticket as nominated for members of the Council, and few voters took advantage of the right to vote for one member.

"Enemies for Life" is a play of absorbing interest and natural in its entirety. The audience is kept spell-bound, one moment chained down to sympathize with the woes of others, and as if by magic touch, when the sense of emotion is well nigh exhausted, we are wafted upon the billows of laughter, and our other nature, to laugh and be pleased, is catered to in a most excellent style.—Brooklyn Eagle.

PRETTY SLEEP WOOERS.

Useful Novelty Pillows for Couch or Divans.

When Filled with Clover, Sweet Lavender or Bits of Thyme They Are More Attractive Than If Stuffed with Feathers or Hair.

Present-day luxury, so it would seem, begins and ends with the sofa pillow. No matter who is to be the recipient, if you select the popular head rest of the moment for an offering, you cannot go amiss. Here is a chance to utilize the field and meadow treasures collected by you during last season's country summering.

A pillow with odorous filling of clover, sweet lavender, bits of thyme, life everlasting or the fragrant and invigorating fir is many times more attractive than that stuffed with down, feathers or hair. Even the elaborately perfumed fancy, with cotton batting lining, loses its charm when brought beside a group of meadow scented morsels.

An especially industrious holiday worker has added to her list of lovetokens a batch of pillows for the pet divan of an invalid friend. Some of them might suggest to you an idea for your cushion-making.

Of course denim is given first showing in this graceful pillow array. A trio of fascinating sleep woocrs have slips in golden brown, dark blue and flaming scarlet. Each denim background is webbed over with a curious design outlined with white linen floss.

The straggling tendrils, half moons, pilot wheels and graceful, intersecting geometric figures are not the work of a professional "stamper," but were originated by the clever embroideress herself, who, with a piece of common white chalk, boldly traced her own patterns upon the denim covers.

Besides the denim pillows, there is a dainty conceit in white linen, powdered with Pompadour flowerets, pinky rosebuds, old blue blossoms and buttercup-hued blooms. A full ruffle of Mechlin lace completes this delicate cover, which may be laundered as often and as satisfactorily as plain linen, if embroidered in washable silks.

This pillow collection includes a couple of Oriental looking fancies made out of an old Persian shawl whose wearing days were over. The circular shape of these head-rests affords an excellent display for the dusky-colored fabric, which, carrying out a decorative whim, is simply drawn in at the corners, and boasts of not the slightest trimming about edges or top.

A hop pillow is going to soothe the future mistress of these slumber aids in many an hour of pain. Its fresh muslin cover, slipped over the hop-bag at will, may be sent to the wash as often as it soils, each time returning with pristine daintiness.

A sage green satine cushion, crossed by bands of old gold ribbon, and another one in tones of gray and crimson, are each to take their place among the jumble of charming sleep woocrs. —Golden Days.

FAMILY SCRAP BAG.

TURKISH crinkled seersucker, either plain, white, or in stripes of white and red, makes dainty bedroom curtains that are easily laundered.

KEEP a box in the store-room to receive all waste corks, and if they are not clean scald them before you put them away. You will often find them a great convenience, and the trouble of saving them is slight.

ON uncolored table linen both china and silver are seen to the best advantage. If a bit of color is liked, it may be introduced in center pieces and serviettes for the bread plate, the olive dish and doilies. In fact, the cloth may serve as a background for as much display as convenience will allow.

FOR a hanging pincushion the Welsh hat is quaint. It is made of cardboard, and covered with black satin. Inside the crown the round pincushion of yellow velvet is fixed, but it is raised in the center much higher than the brim. The hat is suspended by the yellow satin strings, which are tied into a bow.

Paste for Paper Hanging.

First heat water to boiling, then add flour, with constant stirring; to prevent the formation of lumps, the flour may be passed through a sieve so as to insure its more equable distribution. Agitation is continued until the heat has rendered the mass of the desired consistency, and after a few moments further boiling it is ready for use. In order to increase the strength, powdered resin in the proportion of one-sixth to one-fourth weight of the flour is added. To prevent its souring, oil of cloves or a few drops of carbolic acid are added.

Curtain Your Bedstead.

Some of the very newest bedsteads show the genuine old-time four posts and are so exceedingly handsome as to tempt one to return to the style and the methods of a century back. Curtains that entirely shut in the sleeper are open to many objections on the score of health. But carefully arranged draperies that are drawn back at each post might easily be managed so as to give air slightly to the bed, to shield the head and feet from draft and yet allow of sufficient circulation of air.

Mothers

need a powerful nourishment in food when nursing babies or they are apt to suffer from Emaciation.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

The typical Bostenese young women are presumably making up their programme for the coming season. What with morning lectures and readings, club and social teas, house musicales and charity sales for the afternoon, and theatre, concert, opera and party for the evening, the young woman of the period has a busy time of it from December to May. Dante and Browning rather lead Shakespeare, it appears, in the number of classes and clubs whose purpose is the elucidation of the obscure. Browning and Dante, it is said, stand for culture, and are, in a way, safe. Put them down, therefore, young ladies, on the list.—Boston Herald.

Fashionable Livery.

The well known horseman has opened a fashionable livery in connection with his boarding stable at the Exchange Hotel Stables, where fine turnouts can be obtained, single or double. He has well broken and safe saddle and driving horses for ladies, all at reasonable rates. Orders left at the Exchange Hotel will receive prompt attention. Drivers furnished when desired.

Rheumatism Cured in a Day.—"Mystic Cure" for Rheumatism and Neuralgia, radically cures in 1 to 3 days. Its action upon the system is remarkable and mysterious. It removes at once the cause and the disease immediately disappears. The first dose greatly benefits, 75 cts. Sold by C. A. Kleim, Druggist, Bloomsburg. 11-10-8m.

Buffalo Bill has bought a $10,000 residence in North Platte, Neb., very near the spot where he killed his first Indian, and there he intends to spend the rest of his life.

Evans Block, Bloomsburg, Pa.

It not only relieves; it does more it cures. We refer to One Minute Cough Cure. Suitable for all ges, all conditions, at all times.—W. S. Rishton, Druggist.

Justice Field began his thirty-first year of service on the Supreme bench the present term. This record has been surpassed but once in the history of the court and equalled but four times.

The Puzzle Solved.

Perhaps no local disease has puzzled and baffled the medical profession more than nasal catarrh. While not immediately fatal it is among the most nauseous and disgusting ills the flesh is heir to, and the records show very few or no cases of radical cure of chronic catarrh by any of the many modes of treatment until the introduction of Ely's Cream Balm a few years ago. The success of this preparation has been most gratifying and surprising. No druggist is without it.

Sister Marie Augustine, founder of the Little Sisters of the Poor, lately died in France. She was born in 1820, at Saint Servan, and was known in the world by the name of Marie Jamet.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

(From our Regular Correspondent.)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19, 1894

For good and sufficient reasons the tariff bill was not reported to the Senate Finance committee last week, although it could have been reported. The delay was in the interest of democratic harmony, it being thought best to allow objecting democrats to have their say to the sub-committee composed entirely of democrats rather than before the full committee. The regular meeting of the Finance committee will be held to-morrow and the present intention is to report the revised bill. It is possible that it may be delayed a day or two later, but I am assured by every member of the committee that it will certainly be reported this week. No time will be lost by the democrats on the Finance committee after it is reported in getting it reported to the Senate, as they have been cognizant of every change made by the sub-committee. If fact the sub-committee while nominally made up of only three Senators has in reality been the entire democratic membership of the Finance committee, except Senator Vance, who is away sick. The members of the sub-committee feel so certain that they have made the last change in the bill that the revised copy has been sent to the Government Printing office to be put in type.

The best posted democrats laugh at the idea of the 15 democratic Senators to reject the nomination of Peckham being classed as opponents of the administration. One of President Cleveland's most loyal supporters as well as his warm personal friends puts it this way: "I am not a bit sorry that Peckham was rejected, and I know the reasons which governed most of the democratic votes against him. First he bolted the regular democratic ticket at the last state election and openly aided in defeating it, and, as though that were not enough to bar him from any favors at the disposal of the party, he neglected to vote at the recent special Congressional election in New York city when he knew that extraordinary efforts were being made to get out the full party vote, and when asked about it replied carelessly that he forgot all about the election. Now, I don't think a man who forgets when an important election is to be held should have any office, large or small." That this opinion is echoed by many of the staunchest friends of the administration in Congress is certain, and it is generally believed that if President Cleveland will nominate a good democrat for the vacancy those 15 democratic Senators will show that they bear the administration no ill will by voting solidly for his confirmation. The shrewdest democrats in Congress think that the mugwumps have been sufficiently rewarded and that all the appointments hereafter made should be good democrats, men who can be depended upon to help the party win future battles.

Senator Morgan, chairman of the Senate committee on Foreign Relations, has, at the request of the sub-committee, written the report of the Hawaiian investigation. At a special meeting of the committee the report was read and it was decided to defer action upon it to a meeting to be held this week. The report has not been made public and members of the committee decline to discuss it.

Representative Bland of Mo., has been having a tussle with the "no quorum" fiend, and his bill for the coinage of the seigniorage is still unacted upon. There has been a quorum on the floor of the House every day, both those opposed to the bill have refused to vote and the friends of the measure have been a few short of a quorum. Notice has been sent to all absentees to return at once and Mr. Bland is confident that a quorum in favor of the bill will be on hand this week and that the bill will be passed without further delay. It is thought that the filibustering against the bill was for the purpose of delaying it in the House until after the tariff bill gets before the Senate, so as to prevent its being promptly acted upon in the Senate, as its passage by the House has been conceded by all from the first.

The Woman's Suffragists are preparing to move on the South. At their annual convention, just closed in this city, Atlanta, Ga., was selected as the meeting place of next year's convention.

The plate printers' branch of the K. of L., of this city, have adopted resolutions thanking Representative Sayers of Texas, chairman of the House committee on Appropriations, for his friendship to the interest of labor, and requesting all labor organizations in his district to join in the voice thus raised in appreciation of his services to the working people Judge Sayers has always been popular in Washington because of his approachability, and the fame he is making as chairman of the Appropriations committee, one of the most important in the House, has not swelled his head even a little bit.

Reading Re-organization.

PERMISSION ASKED TO ISSUE $5,000,000 COAL TRUST CERTIFICATES.

The first step toward the reorganization of the Philadelphia and Reading Railroad was taken Tuesday, when the receivers of the Philadelphia and Reading Coal and Iron Company (the interests of both corporations being identical) filed a petition in the United States Circuit Court, before Judge Butler, asking for permission to issue $5,000,000 of five and ten-year six per cent. coal trust certificates secured by coal and coal accounts now held by the Finance Company of Pennsylvania.

Judge Butler referred the matter to Special Master Crawford, who will make a report thereon to the Court. The petition states that Drexel & Co., and Brown Brothers & Co., have agreed to purchase over half of the issue at ninety-seven and one-half per cent. of the par value, and that John Lowber Welsh, one of the receivers, has agreed (subject to the approval of the Court) to take $250,000 of bonds. The proceeds will be partly used to take up the Speyer loan of $2,500,000, which will mature on April 3.

What the Fireman on the "Flyer" Has To Do.

From Harper's Young People.

At least every thirty seconds he throws open the furnace door, and without a false motion or the slightest delay hurls exactly three shovelfuls of coal on the fire. He knows just how to spill and spread it with a dexterous turn of the wrist. Before Albany is reached he must throw 6375 pounds of that coal into the fire, or nearly forty pounds a minute, or an average of forty-four pounds a mile. Then, too, he must know exactly where he is along the road, and when to drop his shovel and seize the bell-cord. He must ring the bell in passing through all towns and villages. He must know the proper instant to vault into his seat when important curves are reached to watch for signals. He must see that the steam doesn't vary, and he is proud to shout in your ear when you get near Albany, "She hasn't varied three pounds since we left New York. He must watch the water-guage of the boiler, and is constantly kept changing the pumps and seeing that they do their work properly. All the time he must keep throwing his forty four pounds of coal on the fire every mile. It isn't long before he surprises you with another motion. He throws open the furnace door and thrusts a long, double-pronged fork into the fire. With a twist he prods the glowing mass, and when he pulls his fork out its teeth are cherry red. Then comes the whir of the shovel again, and the sound of the hammer as Tompkins breaks up the larger lumps of coal.

When you approach Montrose, near Peekskill, the engine begins to slow down. If you look ahead you will see a narrow trough between the rails filled with water. The engine is going to take on water at a flying leap. Tompkins stands at the side of the tender with his hand on a lever. Engineer Foyle suddenly startles you with a shrill whistle between his teeth that would put to shame the warning a New York newsboy gives to his gambling mates when a policeman comes in sight. Instantly the lever flies back and as you look at the wheels of the tender you see surging up among the trucks a torrent of water.

It splashes and roars, and as you wonder if you won't be carried away, two whistles from Foyle, sharper and shriller than the first, warn Tompkins to pull up the scoop, and that the end of the water-trough is near. Then Tompkins goes back to his coal, his pumps, his pipe, his water-gauge, his bell, his watch for signals, and you wonder what new work he will do next. Before you are aware of it he touches you upon the knee, and motions for you to raise your feet, while he turns on a hose and wets the floor of the cab to keep down the dust, after which he sweeps up with a stubby broom. Next he is shaking down the grates with a big steel lever that looks like the tiller of a large sail-boat. You now begin to take in what it means to be a fireman.. Toward the end of the trip you tap his shoulder. and shout to him, "This seems to keep you pretty busy."

"I tell you there is no funny business about this work," is his response.

Rev. A. S. Andrews, D. D., LL. D., President of Southern University, Greensboro, Ala., says: "I find the World Almanac invaluable to me. The statistical tables are full and the matter is ever fresh. I know of no collection of facts in so small a space. The arrangement is convenient and natural, and the volume is one of the best in the language. It is a necessity to the scholar, the professionalist and the business man." See our Almanac offer.

THE NEWS of the WORLD

CONCISELY TOLD AND BRIGHTLY COMMENTED UPON.

THE PATRIOT is the only complete morning newspaper that reaches central Pennsylvania at an early hour of the day.

It is one of the foremost Democratic newspapers in the state and the only one printed at the State Capital, the official and political center of the Commonwealth.

It prints the news, receiving it over its own wires through the extraordinary facilities of the great Press Association, aided by its own correspondents.

THE PATRIOT is Democratic to the core. It is opposed to bosses and an enemy of corrupt monopolies. It isn't afraid to fight the wrong; it never hesitates to speak for the right.

It makes a specialty of department news and gives more each day than all the other State papers combined.

The leading question during the winter will be Tariff Reform. In November next Pennsylvania will elect a Governor, members of Congress, and a State Legislature. The man who desires to keep informed must read, and the man who reads should get THE PATRIOT, daily or weekly.

To place THE PATRIOT in the hands of a yet larger constituency we will send the DAILY from now until March 1, 1895, by mail to any new subscriber on receipt of FIVE DOLLARS. The WEEKLY will be sent to any new subscriber from now until March 1, 1895, on receipt of ONE DOLLAR.

THE PATRIOT is the best advertising medium in Pennsylvania outside of Pittsburg and Philadelphia.

Free to the Unemployed: It inserts without charge advertisements of those wanting employment. Its Help Order has brought assistance to hundreds It has a cent a word Want Column for other wants.

DAILY, every week-day morning in the year. $5 a year.

WEEKLY, Tuesday evening of each week, $1 a year.

I BIDE MY TIME.

I bide my time, whatever shadows darken,
Along my path. I do but lift mine eyes,
And faith reveals fair shores beyond the skies.
And through earth's harsh, discordant sounds hearken,
And hear divinest music from afar,
Sweet sounds from lands where half my loved ones are,
I bide my time!

I bide my time. Whatever woes assail me,
I know the strife is only for a day.
A friend waits for me farther on the way,
A friend too faithful and too true to fail me,
Who will bid all life's jarring turmoils cease,
And lead me on to realms of perfect peace.
I bide my time!

I bide my time! This conflict of resistance,
This drop of rapture in a cup of pain,
This wear and tear of body and of brain,
But fits my spirit for the new existence,
Which awaits me in the happy "by and by."
So, come what may, I'll lift my eyes and cry:
"I bide, I bide my time!"
—Ella Wheeler Wilcox

LONE GULCH.

A dark, tempestuous night, the wind howling and rain beating so furiously against the windows as to almost drown the voices of those within the rough cabin of Jack Moore at Lone Gulch. They were talking in low tones, though the precaution was quite unnecessary on account of the noise made by the tempest without, but dark as was the night, a still darker deed was contemplated by the two men hovering over the dying embers, and it was meet that they should discuss it with bated breath.

They had been out in the storm, and were drenched to the skin when they came in at dark; so they still lingered over the decaying fire that had been kindled to dry their clothing, unconscious of the fact that as they unfolded their diabolical plot an unsuspected listener drank in every word, while lip and cheek blanched at the thought of their contemplated crime.

There had been dissatisfaction among the miners of Lone Gulch for months. The pay was often kept back, wages had been lowered, and unnecessary cruelty from some of the "bosses" had rendered part of the miners desperate. The huge coal mine seemed like a cavern of death to them, and the growls of dissatisfaction grew louder and more frequent. The pay was in arrears, and by some unknown process of reasoning Jack Moore and his companion, Dick Jones, had resolved to wreak vengeance by robbing the express train the next night. That the undertaking was attended with danger to themselves did not cause either of them to hesitate, for they were both of that reckless class to whom a spice of danger makes a plan the more attractive; and beside, they calculated that no one would ever discover the hand they had in the wreck.

"Not a word to your wife, mind! This job must not be known to any one or we shall swing for it," said Dick Jones, as he prepared to mount the ladder to the loft.

Meantime, in the little bedroom adjoining lay the involuntary listener, who, though shaking with fear and apprehension, resolved to frustrate their evil designs. Poor Katie Rose! Her lot had been a sad one, though no more so than that of thousands of the very poor. Her father, brave Ned Rose, hearing the rose-colored tales of American life, had left his comfortable home in bonny Scotland, and with his wife and ten-year-old Katie, had sailed for El Dorado, finding, like poor old Ponce de Leon, a grave instead. Fever had broken out aboard ship; sweet Mary Rose was one of its first victims, and all the light and joy went out of Ned's life when her frail form sank from sight beneath the waters of the blue Atlantic.

Almost mechanically he made his way to the mines. His old friend, Jack Moore, welcomed him to his cabin, and Mrs. Moore was kind in her way to this motherless little girl. Ned only lived two weeks, and did not discover that the Jack Moore of to-day was far different from the friend of his boyhood, and utterly unfit to care for his child. So he passed away in happy ignorance.

Katie had been with the Moores over a year, and had partly regained her former cheerfulness; but their ways were so different from those to which she had been accustomed that her heart was sad and lonely. Mrs. Moore was cross and rough, and Jack frightened the child when he cursed and swore about the cabin; but for all that they gave her a portion of their scanty fare willingly, and made her welcome; and her loyal heart was now torn with contending emotions. She knew if they once discovered that she had learned their secret her life would not be worth a rush, for Dick Jones was several degrees lower in the scale of morality than Moore; she could or would not denounce them, even if she had the opportunity, and thus be the means of sending the father of the Moore children to jail.

She thought long and earnestly, and scarcely slept through the dreary hours of the night, so intense was her excitement; and it was a wan-faced little girl who sat down to the table the next morning. But Mrs. Moore was not very observing, and made no comment.

As soon as breakfast was over Katie announced her intention of going up the mountain to procure nuts for the children, a plan which fortunately met with no opposition, and she started without delay. She walked briskly onward for a mile or so, then turned abruptly and hastened to the railroad. Reaching it, she did a strange thing. With almost superhuman strength she dragged several pieces of old ties on the track, forming an obstruction that might very easily have made havoc with the train. Then, hurrying up the track, she looked eagerly outward. If she had calculated rightly a train was now due, and about a quarter of a mile from the broken ties she waited its coming anxiously.

[illegible] something happened to prevent [illegible] from stopping the train, as she [illegible], and it went to destruction. No wonder she turned pale with [illegible]. She heard a distant whistle, and taking off her red flannel petticoat, [illegible] the train, waving it [illegible]. The engineer, always on the [illegible] in that wild district, saw her and [illegible] for down brakes, and the [illegible] to a standstill. Passengers [illegible] came out eagerly to question Katie, and she pointed down below. She had been waiting, and seeing the obstruction, hastened to warn them.

They praised her warmly and went to remove the ties; but she asked for the conductor, and to him told the truth, exacting a promise not to betray her. She told of the plan to wreck the evening train, but refused to give any names, though her listener made a shrewd guess as to that part of it; but she would not admit its correctness.

"I want to save the train and I want to save him," she reiterated; "and I thought if you only knew you could avoid the danger. The rails are to be torn up in the gulch. Have the cars run slow and watch, so that no one will get hurt."

The conductor was a man with children of his own, and the courage of this young girl struck him forcibly. By a few well-chosen questions he learned her history. He promised not to reveal what she had told him, and the train went on, leaving the child alone. She picked up all the nuts she could find and went home. The hardest thing for her to do was to tell what she had found on the track, and how she had stopped the train.

"'Twould have served them right to let them go to perdition," growled Jack; "but thou art a brave lass for all."

He little knew how brave!

That night, when the express thundered through Lone Gulch, it stopped suddenly in the middle of it, and a number of armed men with lanterns examined the track. They found the rails torn up for several rods, and many strong men shuddered at the thought of what might have been.

No one knew just why the train stopped at that particular place or the reason therefor except the conductor, and he said that the occurrence of the morning had made him suspicious, and two men skulking away in the darkness said the same.

"Some fool tried to ditch the morning train with no money aboard and spiled our game. They'll be suspicious now; we'd better get clear of this."

A fortnight later, a man came to the village inquiring for Ned Rose, and came to the cabin of the Moores to learn all the particulars of his death. He stated that an uncle of Ned's in New York had learned of his death and had sent for his daughter to educate and care for, and took Katie away with him.

Judge of her surprise when she entered her uncle's house to find the conductor of the train she had stopped a fortnight before! He shook her hand warmly and introduced her to his wife and children.

"You are a brave, noble little woman," he said, "and I trust you will forgive the little fiction of the uncle."

"You are not my uncle, then?" she questioned.

"No, my child, but the president of the road felt that you must not be left with that family longer, and he asked me to see that you were properly educated, giving me money for that purpose, and placing one thousand dollars in the bank to your credit when you shall come of age. I owe you a big personal debt, for I might have lost my life coming back on the express that night; so I thought I would offer you a home with us if you wished to stay."

She did, indeed, and few to-day know that Kate Rose is not Conductor Alwyn's own niece.—Victor Gage Kimbert.

Expensive Wall Coverings.

Register Gates, of the Land Office, tells a story of the most expensive wall paper he ever heard of. It was in a house on College street, Jackson, Tenn. One of the rooms was papered with land grants belonging to one of the volumes of the land grant office for western Tennessee. These papers had been lost since the war, and represented more than $2,000,000 in value. These papers were carefully detached and preserved for future reference.

Johannesburg, the chief town of the Transvaal gold fields, in South Africa, can show a barber-shop and barroom whose walls are covered with gold mine share certificates which had been of great value.

North Bersted, a town of England, has a room in the Rising Sun Inn the ceiling and walls of which are papered with the stamps of all nations, which before being cancelled had a value of $70,000.

Apart from such eccentricities as those mentioned the most expensive wall paper is tapestry, some of the older specimens of which are worth thousands of dollars. Only a short while since some magnificent specimens were discovered on the walls of an office in Lisbon, and were sent to the National Museum. They are valued at $35,000, and represent the trial of Marcus Aurelius, the coronation of Marcus Aurelius, Marcus Aurelius rebuking Faustina and one of his battles. Each had allegories on one side. The letters of the legends are yellow, on a brown ground. No sign or mark to show either age or maker can be found, but they are believed to date from the reign of Don Juan V.—1706 to 1730.—New York Herald.

Tobacco and Physical Development.

The perennial table of statistics on the subject of the physiological effects of tobacco smoke has again made its appearance. This time Dr. Jay Seaver has based a series of observations on a class of 187 college men during their first and final year, enumerating the growth in weight, height, chest girth and lung capacity of "non-users," "irregular users" and "habitual users" of tobacco. Expressed in the form of percentages, in weight the non-user increased 10.4 per cent. more than the regular user, and 6.6 per cent. more than the occasional user. In the growth of height the non-user increased 24 per cent. more than the user, and 14 per cent. more than the occasional user. In the growth of the chest girth the non-user has an advantage over the regular user of 26.7 per cent., and over the occasional user of 22 per cent.; but in lung capacity the growth is in favor of the non-user by 77.5 per cent. when compared with the regular user, and 49.5 per cent. when compared with the irregular user.

On Trial.

That's a good way to buy a medicine, but its a pretty hard condition under which to sell it. Perhaps you've noticed that the ordinary hit or miss medicine doesn't attempt it.

The only remedy of its kind so remarkable in its effects that it can be sold on this plan is Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. As a blood cleanser, strength-restorer, and flesh builder, there's nothing like it known to medical science. In every disease where the fault is in the liver or the blood, as Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Biliousness, and the most stubborn Skin, Scalp, and Scrofulous affections, it is guaranteed in every case to benefit or cure, or you have your money back.

To every sufferer from Catarrh, no matter how bad the case or of how long standing, the proprietors of Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy say this: "If we cant cure it, perfectly and permanently, we'll pay you $500 in cash." Sold by all druggists.

Messrs. R. B. Brandegee, C. Foster and Edward Prooks have taken a leaf from the book of certain artists in Paris and organized in New York the "Society of Independents." Their motto is "no jury, no recompences, no discrimination of works," which in some respects approaches the motto of the men who rule the new salon in Paris. The society is to be composed of painters, sculptors, engravers, etchers, architects and wood carvers, and the organizers, hope to make a first exhibition in March of 1894. Each artist is to have the same amount of wall space, drawing lots for position, and will be asked to place his own works within the limits assigned him.

WHAT ARE THE "BLUES"?

Woman's Color is an Unfailing Thermometer.

(SPECIAL TO OUR LADY READERS.)

A woman's thermometer is her color. She is red with embarrassment or some deep emotion; she is white with fright; she is supposed to be green with envy; but when she is blue it means that she is sick.

It is not the fault of the woman if she has the blues and that "want-to-be-let-alone" feeling. It is the fault of her condition which makes happiness impossible.

No woman can be happy and light-hearted when painful female complaints crush out her life.

If she is melancholy, excitable, nervous, dizzy, or troubled with sleeplessness or fainting spells, they are symptoms of serious female weakness.

A leaf out of the experience of Mrs. Anna Miller, who lives at Duhring, Pa., shows that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will cure that terrible weakness and bearing-down pain in the abdomen, the dizziness in the head, the feeling of irritability, and loss of appetite.

"I can highly recommend your Vegetable Compound," she writes, "for all female complaints. It's my greatest friend."

If you wish a catalogue that only lists the very finest varieties and most popular and satisfactory sorts of both of vegetables and flowers you will be highly pleased with my little work, beautifully illustrated, entitled Popular Seeds and Bulbs for Spring Planting. It offers the popular and reliable sorts of vegetables, those that the average private gardener will find best suited to his needs, and fine imported flower seeds and bulbs that will excite the interest of every enthusiastic amateur grower. Several fine novelties. Cat. free if this paper is mentioned. L. K. Bronder, Ellenville, Ulster Co., N.Y.

VIGOROUS HEALTH FOR MEN

THE PASTILLE CURE TRADE MARK FOR NERVOUS DEBILITY

Prof. HARRIS' SOLUBLE MEDICATED

Pastille

Has been put up in a proprietary form since 1878, and has been used for years prior to that time in private practice. It is no untried nostrum, of doubtful reputation, but a genuine specific for a very prevalent disease. Thousands of men, of all ages, have at some time in life brought on nervous debility and exhaustion, with organic weakness, by over brain work, excesses, too frequent indulgence or indiscretion and vicious habits, and it is to these that we offer a remedy that will, by its direct action upon the seat of the disease, stop the drain and restore the patient to vigorous health and strength.

Our method of introducing

treatment is one which commends itself to all sensible persons—for the reason that we supply it upon their judgment of its value. We ask of our patrons nothing in the way of expense beyond a postal card and a two cent postage stamp. The postal card to be used in sending us their full address and the postage stamp for the letter returning the statement of their case for which we supply them with a question blank, to be filled out, and an envelope addressed to ourselves for use in returning it when filled.

FREE TRIAL PACKAGE. When we receive the statement on blank we prepare eight days' treatment and forward it by mail and prepay postage thereon—and along with the eight days' treatment we send full directions for using. The treatment in no way interferes with a person's attention to business, and causes no pain or inconvenience in any way.

We are so positive that it will give perfect satisfaction that we leave the matter of sending orders entirely with those using the free trial treatment. Having satisfied those sending for trial packages of our ability to benefit their sexual condition we feel that they are more largely interested than ourselves in continuing the use of the Pastilles. Even then we do not attempt to rob them by demanding high prices. On the contrary, we make the prices as low as possible, and the same to all. They are as follows: $3.00 for one month; $5.00 for two months; $7.00 for three months.

Trade Mark

These prices insure the delivery of the Pastilles by mail. If desired by express we leave the patient to pay the charges. For over ten years we have operated our business upon this plan with satisfactory results. [illegible]

COTTON.

Bureau Southern News,
Pine Bluff, N. C.

It is likely that no crop on the face of the globe, certainly, not in the United States, receives more anxious care and attention than the cotton crop. If the crop does well it draws large amounts of money to the United States, and not only benefits the South but the entire Union; and for this reason the culture of cotton should be an interesting subject to every American.

The cotton is planted from the 1st of April to the 1st of may in drills or rows about three feet apart. When the plants are two weeks old it is thinned out by "chopping" or cutting a slice from the top of the row eight inches wide taking with it all the cotton sprouts in the eight inch space leaving a few plants between each "chap." Later on all cotton fields are brought to a stand. That is, the fields are plowed, all grass and all plants more than needed chopped out. To bring one acre to a stand, is a day's work for the best hands.

Our fields have been brought to a stand, we leave the cotton to grow for a while and look a little to the foes of the crop. First the cold weather in the spring, may delay planting too long; or cold weather after it comes up may discolor it, or late frosts nip it. Too much rain in June may allow the grass to get ahead of the cotton by preventing proper cultivation of the land. The most destructive living foe is the cotton caterpillar. The Hon. Gerald McCarth, State Botanist of North Carolina, treats this as follows:

THE COTTON CATERPILLAR.

This much dreaded pest of the cotton field is less troublesome in North Carolina than in States further South.

The cotton moth is a tropical species, introduced into the Southern States from South America in or about 1793. The damage caused by this pest since its introduction almost exceeds belief. During the two decades from 1860 to 1880, competent authorities estimate the average annual damage at $20,000,000. During bad worm years Texas has lost from this source alone $9,400,000; Mississippi, $6,000,000; Alabama, $4,700,000; Louisiana, $4,500,000; Georgia, $4,000,000; Arkansas, $1,300,000; South Carolina, $500,000; Tennessee and North Carolina, $350,000 each.

The cotton moth passes the winter in the perfect or winged state. But, being a tropical species, it is unable to withstand the winter temperature north of the latitude of Savannah and Vicksburg. At the commencement of cold weather all the moths found north of that latitude die; of those found south of the line some few survive, hidden in cracks and corners of gin houses, and other buildings, or they find shelter under heaps of rubbish in fields and woods. These survivors suffice to propagate the species anew each spring. The insects, as they increase in number, spread northward, and usually reach North Carolina about the first of August.

The moth lays her eggs singly on on the under side of the leaf and each female usually lays from 150 to 200 eggs. The eggs are at first greenish, soon changing to whitish. They are about 1-40 inch in diameter, semi-spherical and ribbed like a cotton picker's basket. The eggs usually hatch in two or three days and the young caterpillars at once begin to eat. The first few days they confine themselves to the underside of the leaves, but eventually eat through or "rag" the leaf and appear on the upper sides. The caterpillar grows rapidly and eats voraciously for about 20 days. It then by means of silk threads, webs itself up into a leaf and remains dormant for a week or ten days. At the end of this period it comes forth as the perfect or winged moth. Within thirty-six hours after issuing the moths have paired and the female begins to lay her eggs for the next brood. The number of broods varies from two in North Carolina to six or more in Texas.

The cotton resembles the buckwheat plant when it first appears above ground and for several weeks thereafter, but when fully matured it has the appearance of a small tree or large shrub. It's average height is three feet but sometimes it grows to a height of eight feet.

Cotton commences blooming in June and continues to bloom until September, and ripens from the 1st of July until the 1st of December.

A field of full open cotton resembles a great snow bank it is so white and beautiful.

Cotton is gathered by hand. No machine has yet been invented that has been a success in gathering cotton and I doubt if any machine will be invented. A smart quick cotton picker can gather two hundred and fifty pounds a day and make one dollar and twenty-five cents as the usual price for gathering is fifty cents per hundred pounds.

When gathered, the cotton is carried to the gin house where the seed is separated from the lint which is packed into bales weighing from 450 to 600 pounds. It is then ready for market and can be sold for cash at any town or railroad station as there are cotton buyers wherever there is a town of a hundred or more population.

Good cotton land will yield an income of twenty dollars per acre, and under the best of care and good manuring the net income above all expenses can be increased to forty dollars per acre.

The finest upland cotton soil is found on the Carolina Central Railway in North Carolina. It is a soil composed of decomposed granite rock and requires little manure or fertilizer. This kind of soil is also good grain and grass land. Similar soil is also found in the States of South Carolina and Georgia, but the quality of cotton grown upon these soils does not command as high prices.

As cotton enters largely into almost every variety of manufactured fabrics, its culture is destined to grow as the population and civilization of the world is extended; and the people of the United States should do all in their power to improve the condition of the cotton lands of the United States, for what draws money from foreign nations to the United States is of advantage to every citizen on the America Continent.

Epps's Cocoa

BREAKFAST-SUPPER.

"By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well-selected Cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided for our breakfast and supper a delicately flavored beverage which may save us many heavy doctors' bills. It is by the judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disease. Hundreds of subtle maladies are floating around us ready to attack wherever there is a weak point. We may escape many a fatal shaft by keeping ourselves well fortified with pure blood and a properly nourished frame."—Civil Service Gazette. Made simply with boiling water or milk. Sold only in half-pound tins, by Grocers, labeled thus: JAMES EPPS & CO., Ltd., Homoeopathic Chemists, London, England.

FORKS.

The P. O. S. of A., Jonestown had a gala time on last Sabbath a. m. When we arrived there from Forks teams filled the bridge and surrounded the church, and we knew there was a large congregation in attendance. The occasion was the delivery of a sermon under the auspices of the P. O. S. of A. of Johnstown, who were there in full regalia. The patriotic hymns sung by some of the musical talent of this section and by a full choir was excellent. The flags of stars along with the banner of the Order were nicely arranged around the pulpit and the chandeliers. Rev. Mr. Rupley, pastor of Lutheran Church, Catawissa, preached the sermon that a nation without God and without the recognition of God cannot survive—a sermon that held the large audience attentively to the close. It was an able vindication of our country's rights, pointing out graphically the dangers that threaten it, and the necessity of our vigilance and apprehension in regard to them. It was an elaborate, able, eloquent sermon that made a fine impression upon his auditors, leading them to reflection and serious thought on the matter. No better patriotism could be uttered from the pulpit. The Rev. reflected a great deal of credit upon the intelligence, patriotism and piety of Catawissa—a sermon long to be remembered. He is a P. O. S. of A. and a Veteran of the armies of the Union. Rising vote of thanks was given him.

Our suspension bridge is suspending like a rainbow upside down. The iron twine will stand a good deal of tauting before the bridge will assume a bridge like appearance.

Some one has taken us to task about the old wooden bridge below because we erroneously held our supervisors responsible for negligence in keeping it in repair. Well, perhaps the bridge is a concomitant part of the county and the supervisors have but little to do with its lamentable condition, with the holes in the sides of it large enough to run through. Van Amburgh's menagerie or a circus, tent, clown and ringmaster Mr. Columbia County, my dear sir, see to it that this old frail elephantine structure is somewhat repaired for the public weal.

Our boys and girls have been doing some tall skating during the past week, but at present writing the signs are ominous for a departure of ice and snow.

Miss Grace Ammerman has gained the reputation of being a proficient skater of the Fishingcreek. She glides as a sylph upon the congealed covering.

There was an interesting time at Asbury last Sabbath evening, a large attendance. Rev. Mr. Rupley, delivered an interesting address before Epworth League. The revival services there, Rev. Mr. Straub pastor, is putting in some efficient work.

There was a fine social party at Mr. Richies, last week. All came with contributions in the way of eatibles, and there was a good time.

Our young people had a fine sled-load time to Benton on Thursday last.

B. F. Edgar &Smith will open up their distiller in the early dawn of spring.

E. M. Laubach has been selling off a large quanity of chester whites during the season.

E. J. Bowman reports a fine time at Bloomsburg in Opera House on Defenders' day. We see by the papers that he acquitted himself handsomely in his speech upon that evening. He has been there before. He is no novice at speech making we suppose.

Lippincott's Magazine for March, 1894.

The complete novel in the March number of Lippincott's is "A Desert Claim," by Mary E. Stickney. It is a charming tale of ranch life in Northern Colorado.

Gilbert Parker's serial, "The Trespasser," reaches its ninth chapter. "The inmate of the Dungeon," by W. C. Morrow, is a story of uncommon power. Joel Chandler Harris, in "The Late Mr. Watkins of Georgia; His Relation to Oriental Folk-Lore," compares a curious legend of his own State with one of India.

In "A Prophet of the New Womanhood," Annie Nathan Meyer considers Henrik Ibsen from an unfamiliar point of view. Emma Henry Ferguson tells "More about Captain Reid," the Confederate blockade runner.

John Gilmer Speed describes "The Training of the Saddle-Horse." Dr. Charles C. Abbott writes of "Bees and Buckwheat," and Charles McIlvaine of "The Evolution of Public Roads." In "Talks with the Trade," the subject of "Literary Mendicancy" is presented.

The poetry of the number is by Anna Robeson Brown and John James Meehan.

GRIM FACTS ABOUT DEVOURERS OF HUMAN FLESH.

The fact that there are cannibals by race, tradition and profession at the present day in India is established beyond a doubt. It seems incredible that in a large community like that of Nassick or Benares the presence would be tolerated of abandoned creatures, who haunt the burning-grounds with the avowed purpose of snatching and eating the half consumed flesh of the dead if they be refused the alms they impudently demand with threats of vengeance.

Even more extraordinary is it to know that one of them having seized one of three boys at play near one of the temples of Nassick, ripped him open and proceeded to eat him while still living, was sentenced by the District Court to only transportation for life.

The Aghoris are undoubtedly cannibals, and although they prefer carrion, and as a rule wait for its putrefaction before attacking a body with their teeth they unquestionably, when opportunity offers, slay the young or weak to make a horrible feast.—Bombay Gazette.

The Change from Girlhood to Womanhood — is fraught with dangers. At this period the young woman is especially sensitive, and many nervous troubles, which continue through life, have their origin at this time. If there be pain, headache, and nervous disturbances, or the general health not good, the judicious use of medicine should be employed. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the best tonic and nervine at this time. The best bodily condition results from its use. It's a remedy specially indicated for those delicate weaknesses and derangements that afflict womenkind at one period or another.

For all women, at all times of life, in all cases of peculiar nature, the "Prescription" is the safe agent that builds up, strengthens, and cures.

In catarrhal inflammation, in chronic disorders and displacements common to women, it is guaranteed to benefit or cure, or the money is refunded.

A great many medicines "relieve" Catarrh in the Head. That means that it's driven from the head into the throat and lungs. But, by its mild, soothing, cleansing and healing properties, Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy perfectly and permanently cures.

The Best Medicine.

J. O. WILSON, Contractor and Builder, Sulphur Springs, Texas, thus speaks of Ayer's Pills:

"Ayer's Pills are the best medicine I ever tried; and, in my judgment, no better general remedy could be devised. I have used them in my family and recommended them to my friends and employes for more than twenty years. To my certain knowledge, many cases of the following complaints have been completely and by the use of Ayer's Pills alone: Third day chills, dumb ague, bilious fever, sick headache, rheumatism, flux, dyspepsia, constipation, and hard colds. I know that a moderate use of Ayer's Pills, continued for a few days or weeks, as the nature of the complaint required, would be found an absolute cure for the disorders I have named above."

"I have been selling medicine for eight years, and I can safely say that Ayer's Pills give better satisfaction than any other Pill I ever sold."—J. J. Perry, Spottsylvania C. H., Va.

DEFENDERS' DAY.

EXTRACTS FROM THE SPEECH OF E. J. BOWMAN AT THE OPERA HOUSE.

God raised up but one Christopher Columbus to discover this land and but one Washington to redeem it from thralldom. We came in late to rank among the nations of the earth. Ninevah, Babylon and Jerusalem had long since crumbled away. The temples, colonnades and archways of Rome and the sculptured monuments, mausoleums and cenotaphs of Greece had almost crumbled into dust. Spain, Germany, France, Italy and England were hoary with age when God stretched out his hand and led Columbus across the world of waters to these emerald shores. But God is always on time; never behind time, and we came when we were needed. He had raised up great nations which vanished into night like phantoms across our pathway of life only to give room for America that emerged out of the darkness of ages holding in her hands the torch of liberty and wearing upon her brow a crown of blessings.

We pass the sufferings of our Pilgrim Fathers, Colonies were formed and they became a Confederation, and then came the war of the Revolution when our liberties were obtained and established. The Continental Congress was the greatest body of sages that ever assembled, chief among whom were Washington, Franklin and Jefferson. Their names are written upon the hearts of their posterity. Brass and marble will crumble and corrode, nationalities will rise and sink like bubbles upon the ocean wave, but these names will endure till the stars grow grey with age.

The war with Mexico came after the war of 1812 in which we gained the empire of Texas. We come now to the gigantic war of the Rebellion. What was the sacrifice to preserve the Union and the Republic? Heroes everywhere, crippled and grey, and tottering with infirmity and age in the prime of life! They left homes wives and children, and property, every hallowed association and sallied forth to danger and death that their country might live. The nobility of Europe are proud of their ancestry and their escutcheons, but, comrades, the scars you wear upon your bodies received upon the field of carnage, are far brighter than the escutcheons of kings and princes. Your limbs lost on the field of strife are trophies of your valor and victory brighter than those that adorned the triumphal marches of a Cæsar, a Scipio, or a Marius.

We speak of heroes dead as well as living. They lie buried upon many a battle field, in many a hospital grave yard. Their skeleton forms seem to startle into life around the moulderin stockades of Andersonville gimploring us to be true to the Union and to the principles for which they endured the agonies of starvation. Voices come from Libby, Belle Isle, Macon, Florence and Saulsbury, telling us to be true to them, to ourselves—and to posterity. A half million heroes lie buried in the land of the South.

There are dark spots on the sun and bright spots on our earth—Antietam, Fredericksburg, Chancellorville, Chattanooga, Gettysburg and a host of other battle fields. The word veteran has now a peculiar significance. There is more glory and prestige around the name. In the darkened ages many a poet strung his lyre and sang of liberty, and it never came. The tread of our armies was like the smoking footprints of the Son of God on the mountains of Judea. If there is anything that will rise undimmed upon the ocean of time it will not be some mound of crumbling brickwork, some monument or mausoleum dedicated to the memory of an Alexander, a Cæsar, or a Napoleon, but it will be a cenotaph, or shaft, consecrated to a Washington, to him who seeks the elevation of his race and the aggrandizement of humanity. But we are facing dangers that are militating seriously against us. This is the dumping ground for the criminals and paupers of Europe. "Eternal vigilance is the price of liberty." This should be written upon our hearts, upon our flag, upon the walls of our school houses and upon the rocks of our mountains. And "by the virtue and intelligence of the people we are sustained," and when we lose sight of this we are no longer a Republic.

Comrades, there was a time when we were of some importance. It was when we went to defend the wives families and property of those who staid at home, as far from danger as they were from Heaven, and who couldn't to day tell a bombshell from a pumpkin. Think of it, we are asking for pensions! What a crime! It will not be long till we will not have standing room in the middle of a full sized river, or could warm our feet at the mouth of a volcano. The "foxes have holes, the birds of the air have nests," but veterans have not where to lay their heads.

Comrades, save the old canteen, the old haversack, the old musket, place them away in safety and when you come to die hand them to your children as mementoes of your services for your country's welfare. Soon the last comrade will stand alone upon the earth amidst the graveyards and cemeteries of his comrades. Soon he will take the last look upon the blushing battle fields of Chattanooga, Lookout Mountain and Gettysburg, then pass away forever.

Sons of Veterans, remember your fathers who served and perished for Liberty, Heaven's choicest gift to man and for the Union of these States, Heaven's choicest gift to man as its treasure house.

The school children of Greece were taught to name over for 300 years daily the names of the valiant 300 that perished in the defiles of Thermopylae. Would we could mention those who climbed the heights of Pea Ridge, Ft. Fisher, Lookout Mountain and never came back. The mummies of Egypt were preserved in the sunless pyramids along the Nile for resurrection morn. But our heroes are embalmed in the throbbing, loving hearts of the present generation and will be in the generations yet to come.

How precious our flag having passed through the sulphur and smoke of a thousand battles! What brave men carried it through the storms of iron hail! Its stars are from Heaven; its stripes from the golden sunrise of morning. It does not resemble anything on earth. It has no earthly model. Its model is the cerulean skies, gemmed with the stars that sang in harmony at creation's birth. It is like that great mantle of stars that hangs from the Throne of the Eternal. Forty-four unsullied stars, the reflection of the planets that gleam around the midnight Throne.

Stars of our flag shine on through ages yet to come; shine on to light the pathway of liberty, shine on till you reach the darkened labyrinths of every human heart.

Our country; still may her flowers untrampled spring,
Her harvests wave, her cities rise;
And yet till time shall fold her wing,
Remain earth's loveliest paradise."
